

ENGLISH APPLIED LINGUISTICS

1. State the main linguistic levels:

- Phonetics, Phonology, Grammar and Semantics
- Structuralism, Generativism and Pragmatics

2. What is Applied Linguistics?

- A description of particular languages
- An interdisciplinary study of language use
- A scientific study of language in general

3. Date the origins of language studies in the Western World.

- The Ancient World
- The Renaissance
- The Middle Ages

4. What do structuralists look for?

- Linguistic intuitions
- Linguistic facts

5. Since when is Linguistics considered a science?

- The 19th century
- The 20th century
- The 18th century

6. State the main linguistic paradigms

- Phonetics, Phonology, Grammar and Semantics
- Structuralism, Generativism and Pragmatics

7. What is the process to follow in a linguistic research?

- Thesis, collecting data, analysing data, hypothesis
- Hypothesis, collecting data, analysing data, thesis